oank would be closed for three days in order to have sufficient coin shipped in to prepare for any run. There is no excitement, and the feeling prevails that there will be no failures.

A statement issued by the State Bank and Trust company this afternoon assigns labor troubles and a drain on deposits in the South as the reason for the suspension. It claims that depositors will be paid dollar for dollar. A general feeling of confidence exists here. The deposits in banks today greatly exceeded the withdrawals. Prominent local financiers, including Senator Nixon, anticipate no serious trouble. A dispatch from Goldfield states that conditions there are normal.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Oct. 23.—The State Bank and Trust company closed its doors at 11 a. m. today. A notice posted on the door says that the suspension is on instructions from the home bank of Carson City, and is due to the heavy drain on deposits during the last few months, following the labor troubles and the inability to make collections. The notice further says that the resources are ample to pay all depositors in full. It is generally believed that the suspension of the Goldfield institution was due wholly to the difficulty that beset its sister banks in other cities controlled by T. B. Rickey, who is the head of the reorganized Sullivan Trust company.

PRESIDENT AGAIN REACHES WASHINGTON

Highly Pleased With His Southern Trip and the Receptions En Route.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 .- President Roosevelt reached the White House from his Southern trip this afternoon at 4 o'clock, exactly on schedule time. He expressed himself as thoroughly pleased with his trip.

"I have had a delightful time," he "I am extremely gratified over the fact that I got a bear as the result of my hunt, and none the less so that I had to work twelve days to get it. For the rest, I was touched and gratified beyond measure by the reception I received in the South; indeed at every place, both North and South. The entire twenty-four days have been full of both profit and pleasure, and I am very glad I made the trip."

The President refused to discuss the question of fusion in New York, but he let it be known that the step was taken without his knowledge.

HELENA. Mont. Oct. 23.—The Associated Press tonight received a long-distance telephone message from Butte to the effect that two applications were made in court today for the appointment of receivers for the State Savings bank, which closed lix doors last week immediately after the slump in copper in the New York market. It is said that an examination of the affairs of the bank has resulted in the discovery that some heavy losns were made to former friends of F. State Bank Examiner Collins gave out a reassuring statement late today, which intimates that a movement is on foot looking to the reopening of the bank. Prominent Butte financiers are tonight making an effort to have the applications for receivers withdrawn. They believe that with a little time and patience the bank will be able to pay all depositors dollar for dollar.

R. E. LOCKWOOD IS INSTANTLY KILLED

Well-Known Newspaper Man of Idaho Accidentally Shoots Himself Through Heart.

Special to The Tribune.

BOISE, Ida. Oct 23.—R. E. Lockwood, former publisher of the Weiser Signal, and a well-known politician, accidentally shot and killed himself at an early hour this morning, at Riggins, Idaho county, where he had gone to look after his mining property and close up his affairs preparatory to coming to Boise to assume the position of managing editor of the Idaho Scimitar, the new weekly paper being established by United States Senator Dubois. He was to have arrived here tomorrow to meet his family, which arrived in this city some time ago.

Mr. Lockwood told a friend, Mr. Parsons, who, with others, was with him at Riggins, that he would leave his sixshooter with him, and went to get it in an adjoining room. How the weapon exploded is not known, as Mr. Lockwood was shot through the heart and died before his friends get to him.

B. F. Edlin, a brother-in-law of Weiser, has gone for the remains, and is expected in Welser tomorrow, where the funeral will be held.

Mr. Lockwood was a Mason, and will be burled under the auspices of that order. He was widely known, his friends were legion, and his death is not only a great loss to his home community, but to the State at large. He was a forceful writer and an excellent newspaper man. In fact, he was a self-made man and had worked himself up to considerable prominence by tireless energy and pluck. Mr. Lockwood was a personal friend of Senator Dubois. His wife, who left for Weiser this evening, is nearly prostrated with grief.

The deceased was thirty-eight years of age, and was born on a farm in eastern Oregon.

Senator Dubois said: "Mr. Lockwood had a distinct personality. He was very pleasing and attractive. His friends had unbounded faith in him. Companionship with him was a delight. His mind was remarkably bright and alert. He could always see the humorous side and he had a quaint and forceful method of expression. He was a born philosopher, cheerful in disposition, and slways dispelled gloom, no matter what the surroundings, by some wittictism. rowful.

HOPES TO RECLAIM THE ABANDONED FARMS

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—That the neglected lands of abandoned farms in New York and New England eventually will be reclaimed and brought back to their primitive fruitfulness, is the proposition of James Wilson, Secretary of Agriculture, at a conference here today, on the condition of agriculture in New York State.

The Secretary's prophecy was made in an address on "The Unproductive Farm." He said this will be brought about by scientific farming, aided by the Government, and that when the possibilities of the land are recognized the farms will be reoccupied.

Harden began last November to assert that Count zit Eulenberg was the head of a group at court that sought to influence the Emperor's political action by subtle, indirect suggestions. Count zu Eulenberg, Count Kuno von Moltke, and Lieut-Gen. Count William von Hohenau, one of the Emperor's adjutants, were mentioned by Harden as members of the so-called Camarilla, or "round table," and he further alleged that they were spiritualists and of abnormal temperament and habits. According to report, the crown prince, Frederick William made an inquiry into the charges in May, and went to his father with the result of his investigations, which caused Count zu Eulenberg, Count von Moltke and Lieut-Gen. Hohenau to resign.

Few of the ten thousand applicants for cards of admission to the court room were able to get them, and these largely were lawyers, witnesses and reporters. After the clerk of the court had read all of Herr Harden's articles on the subject the defendant arose and said:

"I have followed political aims alone in my articles, and in so doing have been compelled to mention Count von Moltke's name. I did not say he had practiced disgraceful vices, but said that he was abnormal in temperament."

Harden said he had never written a word more than was necessary.

Count von Moltke said that such a circle as the "round table," which as the defendant alleged, had sought to influence Emperor William's political actions, often in a sense contrary to the views of his constitutional advisers, had never existed, and could not exist in the entourage of the Emperor. The count added that his old friendship with Prince zu Eulenberg was wholly without ulterior significance.

Herr Harden's counsel, Herr Bernstern, asked von Moltke if he had not heard disgraceful reports about M. Lecomte, the first secretary of the French embassy, who was transferred in June, and the plaintiff replied:

"I did hear them, but I did not believe them. I met M. Lecomte many years ago, at Starnburger (a watering place in upper Bavaria) and I saw him once or twice with Prince zu Eulenberg."

Frau Elba, the divorced wife of Count von Molitke, testified to the gross epithets that her former husband had applied to married life.
